Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Monday 24 May 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Showery, cool weather but with some sunnier breaks.

Today:
Persistent rain for parts of north and east Scotland, where distinctly chilly. Elsewhere sunny spells and showers, heaviest over parts of Wales and England, where hail and thunder is possible. Rather cool, although probably feeling reasonable in sunnier breaks.

Tonight:
Heavier showers in the south easing, though a few continuing, chiefly around coasts. Northeastern parts of the UK mostly cloudy with some showery rain in places. Chilly in clearer areas.

Tuesday:
Some northeastern areas starting cloudy and damp. Eastern England and eastern Scotland seeing the heaviest showers, although occasional sunshine. Fewer showers further west, though the far southwest turning wetter. Cool.

Outlook for Wednesday to Friday:
Some rain at times but in general it will be drier than of late with more sunshine for many. Less windy and temperatures starting to recover closer to normal.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.